

The Healing Trees

By Roger Walpole

(A early member of our NZ Society)

In this talk I hope to interest you in the HEALING LEAVES, the subject of verse 2, Chapter 22 of REVELATIONS. Since my preceptor passed into Spirit some 38 years ago, I have had little or no communication with people using his method, excepting the people I have been helping to learn the art. Witch doctors, Kahunas, Tohungas (native Healers) knew something of this. For instance the aboriginals of Australia have been known to cover sick persons with leaves, and let them lie till sunset. We have never used that method so I can't dilate on it.

Trees are very versatile. Besides supplying timber for fabrication, they inhale the air we exhale, and give us Oxygen in return. They supply leaves for Healing purposes, and a means of diagnosis. Like us, they have diseases, only these are given names different from ours. But trees have TB; cancer; anaemia; goitre and so on. This was discovered (or used, I should say) by my preceptor. He would take the handwriting of a person suffering from a disease, then walk in amongst the trees, and by ESP find a tree with that trouble. In that way he acquired a number of bits of stick corresponding to the 49 basic diseases of man. We could use these 'witnesses' (as they are called) in diagnosis anywhere. Not only did we find the troubles in man, but we were able to discover the best means of treatment. Trees live on moisture, minerals, and light. They are selective. By means of their filtering process in leaves and bark and roots, they imbibe just what they require. Thus we have an infinite range of colour, invisible to our physical sight, and, as far as I know, beyond the range of our measuring instruments, though we can obtain a clue from a spectroscop. If you have been fortunate enough to see the films of Kirlian photography, you'll have no difficulty in believing that there is life and colour in the leaves, and that leaves do radiate. In a list of trees and their spectrum colours it is found that the bulk of the 'Healers' are in the blue violet, violet and red violet band, and in infinite shades of these colours.

The life of leaves (after they have been cut from the parent tree) is 90 days; but that is no indication of what happens when they are put to work on a patient. In a case of advanced malignancy I put leaves beneath a friend to allay the pain somewhat. In three days there was nothing left but carbon.

Every human has relationship or rapport with that which will heal. People with an extra sense developed, have no difficulty. They simply desire to find a remedy – and within a short time they meet it. People who have not made any attempt to develop the sense may find it difficult, but persistence wins. It requires a mixture of desire and conviction, e.g., "I AM SEEKING MY REMEDY, AND I KNOW THAT I'LL FIND IT".

You may find a more fitting approach than that. There is no telling beforehand what you are to find. It may be a tiny Herb like Pimpernel, it may be a huge tree, who knows, but your High Self? It is your divine prerogative to find that which will Heal you. The lower animals can. Are you inferior to them?

Some years ago it occurred to me that I could match sound and colour to the trees used in Healing. The late Herbert George, Patron of what is now known as the Radiesthesia and Radionics Society of N.Z. Inc., had mastered the art of 'matching' colours (mainly by coloured stranded cottons) to objects. It was through his technique that I was able to equip myself with colours to represent (or match) the Healing property in Trees; and from there I was able to find the related sound frequency. This proved to be a two-way relationship. We matched colours to diseases, and the treatment or remedial factors. The same is with sound. We found notes that matched the maladies, and the notes that corresponded to the remedial factors. It became possible to predict the tone required for the remedy. Through some undiscovered reason the results of this very interesting study were lost. If I were to repeat the study I would use an organ of the right pitch, using weights to hold down the keys.

Before I came on the scene, my teacher and his pupils had successfully treated malignancy with leaves. They had records of a good number of certified cases. When Dr. James Elliott toured this country on a lecture series, he was presented with the Mosely method with affidavits complete. For some reason nothing has since been heard of this. The plant that was most used in this system is the emblem of the St. John Ambulance Association - St. John's Wort (Hypericum perforatum). Mosley discovered this plant in a simple way. He noticed that one of his trees 'matched' the handwriting of one of his patients. On examining this tree he noticed it showed symptoms of malignancy. After some experimenting he found that the tree was growing over a radioactive spot. He found that Hypericum perforatum neutralised the offending radiation, and the trees recovered. The same treatment sufficed for humans. Much has been written about cancer prone houses and localities. From my own experience I can endorse this. I consider that radium emanations are perfect reversal agents. People exposed to them for a length of time find that their love turns to hatred or resentment; truth becomes lies; temperance becomes gluttony; benignity becomes malignancy; positivity becomes negativity, etc.

We find that a very high percentage of people stricken with this complaint (Malignancy) have been indulging some form of resentment or hatred. The most effective method of dealing with this curse (in my experience that is) is to choose from Hypericum; Pussy Willow; Jacaranda; Redwood; Towai (NZ) and trees I am not yet acquainted with. Usually a tree can be found not far distant from the patient Healers who are interested can usually make friendships with people who can supply required leaves. A bouquet quantity is usually sufficient.

I have mentioned malignancy by way of example. Trees can supply leaves for almost every malady known to man. These, the leaves, can be laid on a sheet of paper, and pushed on the floor beneath the affected spot of the patient. In healthy conditions, the leaves radiate effectively for ninety days. In an advanced case the leaves can be reduced to carbon in three days. If a patient spends most time in a chair, it is wise to have leaves in action there. It is easy to move them with the patient. If you meet with mental opposition you may be able to hide leaves under the house. Use initiative.

My great difficulty here is that I can't name the trees of all countries in which people may be interested in this cult. I can name trees such as Oak; Sycamore; the Poplars; Chestnut; Ash; Pine; Rhododendron; Magnolia; the Willows; Elm etc., besides many shrubs, such as Heather; Rosemary; Lavender; Wild Rose; Geraniums, etc. etc. One finds that skill is required in choosing exactly the right Healing medium. We all know that water can be prepared for Healing by using the mind to that end. This pertains equally to the leaves. The power can be enhanced.

In tree lore, there is an 'Elite' class. A few of them can subdue as many as twenty-one maladies. Others can account for fourteen; some rate at seven, other rate 'three'. As an instance I will quote the elite Pinus Helepis, the cone bearing Pine, from the book "All The Plants of the Bible" by Winifred Walker, Lutterworth Press. A small branch of this tree, with its green needles will effectively neutralise the 'nuisance' underground radiation Monasite that is the cause of so much headache and various head troubles. Consider this tree if you are a martyr to Bright's disease; congested spleen; adrenal gland disturbance; bronchitis; brain fever; hardening arteries; inflammations; obsession; polyuria; ulcerous conditions; herpes, psoriasis; shingles (some cases) genital herpes; abscess of the prostate; varicocele; stomach ulcer, vaginitis; Puerperal fever; scarlet fever; some liver troubles.

I am not claiming that the leaves will remove causes such as alcoholism, faulty diet; wrong thinking etc. etc. in all cases. But I have known them to help considerably.

Now, assuming that you have located your specific tree, you can make use of it in a number of ways. If you have static electricity within your system from the simmerstat on the stove; or the washing machine; or the laundry iron (which is a great offender because it moves about such a lot near the solar plexus) or the electric sewing machine; etc., you can sit or stand with your back to the tree and most likely have the unwanted tumours removed. If you sit or lie in the shade of your tree the sun will project the Healing rays through your system. On the other hand, if you can't spare time to lie in the shade, then you may be able to take some cuttings home with you, you can put under your chair or your bed, or, wrapped in a thin brown paper to cuddle while in your chair or in bed.

If you take leaves from the shady side of the tree you have more of a drawing effect. From the sunny side the effect is more outgoing or radiating. If I can walk round the tree, I do this in order to find the leaves that will afford the desired effect. It goes without saying that the healthier the tree, the greater the affect or the quicker the result. Before I was able to relate trees to the spectrum of light, I asked the late Herbert George, who was perfect with regard to matching colours to green leaves, to match Hypericum perforatum (I sent him a leaf). The result came as Clarke's stranded cotton No. 403 which, as you may know, is a pale red violet, a long way from green. Now, when I put the leaves under a shielded ultra violet lamp, and threw the pink cotton in with them, I found a perfect blend. I couldn't distinguish one from the other. So we realise then, the physical sight is of no help in this, it has to be the extra sense. Try holding a leaf in your hands as you walk, and try focusing your physical sight to see the aura of the leaf, and determine which colour is predominant.

I mentioned obsession in connection with the pine tree. There is plenty of obsession in need of treatment. As you know, this treatment is usually left to a few very brave people who command the vile entity to leave the patient's body. The poor scared thing then forces its entry into the nearest body available. The treatment we have found easy and effective is, first of all, to render the patient distasteful to the obsessing entity by putting leaves beneath her or him, or getting patients to cuddle leaves to the solar plexus. This latter method (to the solar plexus) is only effective where the patient will co-operate, which is not often, as the entity puts up a fight within the patient. Obsessing entities, as you know are of four main types: Fire; Earth; Air and Water. Each needs the use of a different tree, and here again I'm at a loss to name the trees of all countries that could be of interest. Here are four I know: Fire entity - use the cone Pine. Water entity use Lawsoniana (cyprus). An Air entity – use Green Bay Tree, and Earth elementals use Chestnut. I presume most of you know that the Invisible Helpers are willing to help when called upon and here is an excellent chance. Ask these Helpers to provide an escort to return the obsessing entity to its proper environment.

And now, to finalise this chat, I would like to relate to you another aspect of service rendered by the Trees. If we have some disease or some pestilential complaint when we pass over from physical to Spirit, it is necessary for us to be put through a rest or recovery course. In a great number of cases this means lying under what I will call 'an Etheric Tree' till the proper balance of forces is established. It has been my good fortune to be able to learn some interesting theories on this subject. For an instance, people who have been pronounced subnormal in physical life are mostly put under pine trees, the Spiritual counter- parts. And perhaps you will be able to raise a smile when you visualise a scene in a funeral parlour where the virtues of the deceased are being extolled, and the relatives are weeping or feeling very sad, the dear departed is probably resting under a tree a short distance away. And, in case you may think you walk through him or sit on her or him in the park, the Spiritual tree, is at least, seven feet above terra firma.

Well, I hope I have done justice to our very good friends, the trees. This cult could only entrance a small percentage of people interested in Healing, there are so many other facets that are easier to learn. And, another thing I have done. I have honoured my Promise to the late John Mosley who healed my troubled body, then set my feet on the Path Trod by those who seek the simple truths required in achieving a balance life on earth.

And now I commend you to the Love of the Creator.
